WestlawNext Patron Access for Public Libraries and Government Libraries

WestlawNext Patron Access is the plan that state and local government law libraries and public libraries can utilize to provide top-quality online legal research to library users. Designed expressly for these libraries, it eliminates librarians' worries about cost, privacy, security and training.

WestlawNext Patron Access allows librarians to offer their patrons the user-friendly, intuitive features of WestlawNext without worry. Designed specifically for public and local government libraries, WestlawNext Patron Access provides IP-authenticated access without requiring a password, keeps users within the library's subscription and ensures each user's history, preferences, and other session details are "wiped clean" at sign off. Westlaw coverage extends to every area of the law and every U.S. jurisdiction.

Content choices include:

Case law from the federal courts and courts of all 50 states, including unpublished cases
United States Code Annotated and 50-state statutes

Federal Register, Code of Federal Regulations and administrative codes for selected states

Topical coverage that fits your patrons' research, such as family law, estate planning, bankruptcy, insurance, employment, immigration law, and tribal law

Forms, including thousands of easy-to-find legal and business forms, both official and practice-tested, plus checklists and contract clauses

Contemporary legal issues defined in American Law Reports

Explanatory articles from American Jurisprudence 2d legal encyclopedia

Expert legal analysis in your patrons' areas of interest

Subscribers can therefore elect from a broad array of Westlaw resources and add content as their library's needs expand. They also enjoy full customer service and technical support from West experts.

New York Times Coverage on Westlaw

Are you looking for New York Times print, website and blogs content? Then, look no further than Westlaw. Westlaw has enhanced coverage of New York Times content, including intra-day updates, online content, and blogs.

It can all be found in the following databases:

- New York Times (NYT): Provides full coverage of the New York Times from 1980 to the present. In addition, NYT includes the New York Times (Sunday) Magazine (NYTMAG). To retrieve documents from the magazine, include the following prelim field (pr) restriction in your query: pr(mm).
- NYTimes.com (NYTIMESCOM): Consolidates the contents of the New York Times newspaper and website, as well as exclusive online-only content. This feed also contains stories from the International Herald Tribune newspaper.
- New York Times Blogs (NYTBLOGS): Contains a selection of professional blogs covering news, politics, business, opinion, finance, technology, culture, media, science, environment, health, family, education, travel, and sports. Notable blogs include Dealbook, Executive Suite, Freakonomics, The Conscience of a Liberal (Krugman), Floyd Norris: Notions on High and Low Finance, and The Public Editor's Journal. To retrieve a specific blog, restrict your search to the title field (ti), e.g. ti(dealbook).
